

Cathey Brimage

Senior Consultant

Providing HR advice and consulting in Adelaide.

Cathey is a Fellow of the Australian Human Resource Institute and believes the overriding function of any Human resource professional is to be a true business partner and assist in the delivery of top line performance. Accordingly, she will always apply commercial acumen and pragmatism in aligning human resources strategy with your business objectives.

With a career spanning over 30 year's Cathey has extensive experience in both senior business and human resource leadership roles, covering a variety of industries including building materials, mining and exploration, retail, manufacturing, medical, legal and hospitality.

Having also been a business General Manager, from a delivery perspective Cathey is a master at doing more with less in the HR space and has strong expertise in Industrial relations, complex workplace investigations, change management and the design and implementation of targeted performance and development programs.

Cathey understands the difficult balance required between HR and business needs and has worked on complex global restructures. Cathey holds an SA Investigator's License.
