

Nick Dawes

Consultant and Leadership Trainer

Providing HR advice and consulting in Adelaide.

From an engineering background, Nick brings balance and diversity of experience to the Urban HR team. Nick has worked in private, commonwealth government and state government settings and has significant experience leading and managing staff. Nick has also worked on cross border projects, coordinating budgets and resource deployment.

Nick's skills in bringing people along a change process, coupled with his calm demeanour, expert analytical skills and strategic thinking capacity ensures all angles are covered in larger projects.

With qualifications in training and assessment and auditing and a sports coaching background, Nick is able to quickly and succinctly identify communication barriers and motivate teams towards a common goal.
